

January 10, 2007

CHARLOTTESVILLE—Robert Redd, LLC is pleased to expand its accessories business to extend quality, stylish Gentlemen’s accessories to its loyal customers. In this vein, REDD is joining forces with S. Matheson, who designed the REDD Pocket Squares and Handkerchiefs line, made from the highest quality imported shirting fabrics and Liberty of London prints.

S. Matheson began handcrafting classic handkerchiefs in Free Union, Virginia, near the town of Charlottesville, in 1999. Realizing that handkerchiefs are not only highly practical but also rich in style and tradition, her goal has been to use the highest quality imported fabric to create bold, striking and lasting handkerchiefs. To the discerning gentleman, the subtle splash of color and style is classic, fashionable and functional. The handkerchief is truly a timeless accessory.

“I am so excited about partnering with my brother-in-law”, S. Matheson said. “Robert Redd is such an exciting and quickly growing company. We are definitely better together than apart.”

As classic tailoring returns to style in the 21st century, the Robert Redd brand is the premiere line of clothing and accessories aimed at refining elegance with simplicity.

Robert Redd, LLC excels in creating, designing, and producing the most unique consumer products. Notably, the initial Redd® products were fine gentleman’s knits. The products are comprised of the finest materials, matched with unique colors and are intelligently conceived so that both the products and brand appeal to the gentleman or lady with the highest personal regard for his or her wardrobe.

The legend of Robert Redd™, tracing back to before the turn of the century, was founded on a love of both adventure and of the finer things in life. Robert Redd, LLC continues to evolve holding true to the most defining characteristics of its original inspiration, especially those derived from his family’s motto, “Extend Love, ‘Tis what you truly are”. Many more colorful adventures exist and once properly researched, will be reported faithfully by Robert Redd, LLC.

For more information, send an email to info@robertredd.com, or call 434-979-9191.